Nivolumab is a human IgG4-type monoclonal antibody that acts by blocking programmed cell death protein-1 (PD-1) or its ligand, PD-L1. Hyponatremia is a rare adverse event associated with PD-1/PD-L1 antibody therapy. Hyponatremia associated with PD-1/PD-L1 therapy is generally mild and transient. In this report we describe a case of a patient with advanced renal cell carcinoma who experienced life-threatening spontaneous colitis and nivolumab-induced hyponatremia associated with prolonged hospitalization. This is the first report of a patient experiencing both spontaneous colitis and hyponatremia during nivolumab therapy. Clinicians must be cautious when administering anti-PD-1/PD-L1 therapy in patients with underlying cancer to avoid life-threatening adverse events.Q: How to do something after request to server for each element in list, in React-Native?
